New-York, February 5, 1892. To the Board of Trustees of the New-York Life Insurance Company.

Gentlemen: As you all know, I have nothing at heart but the centimed welfare and prosperity of this company, to which I have devoted the best years of my life.

company, to which I have devoted the best periods in it.

I have no personal ends to serve, but at my advanced age and in my present state of health I require relief from the very onerous labors of the presidency, and but for the long-continued and persistent assaults upon the company, which have been chiefly directed against me personally, I should long ugo have asked you to lighten my labors. I also recognize the fact that such assaults, however unjust, may in the end prove detrimental to the company's interest.

I therefore bereby tender my resignation of the office of president, to take effect Wednesday, February 10, 1805.

Tour committee have examined carefully the report of the Department, and we have taken the conclusion of the Department, and we have taken the conclusion of the Department as the basis of our recommendations.

It must be borne in mind that there is nothing in the report which shows any corrupt or dishonest use of the company's funds for the private gain of any one of the officers of this company. Indeed, the sound financial condition of the company, it is enormous increase of assets and of business, show that the management upon the whole, has been, and to produce such results must have been, intelligent and honest.

The report of the Department as well as our own investigation, however, satisfies us that the business of the company has outgrown the methods and checks now in use.

HARRIS SENTENCED TO DEATH.

THE WEEK BEGINNING MARCH 21 FIXED FOR THE EXECUTION-AN APPEAL FILED.

The special committee of five then submitted the forlowing report:

New York, February 8, 1892.

To the Board of Trustees of the New-York Life Insurance Company.

Your committee, appointed at a special meeting of the board held on the 25th day of January, 1892, to take into consideration the report of the liminance Department upon the recent investigation made at the partment upon the recent investigation made at the sequest of this company, and to consider what action should be taken in view thereof, respectfully report to the board as follows:

We have given this matter the most careful consideration in order to determine what course is best to pursine for the interests of the company and what changes in the organization or methods of the company are desirable.

THE EXECUTION—AN APPEAL FILED.

Carlyle W. Harris was sentenced to Recorder Smyth
In the Court of General Sessions yes'erday, to de by activities was convicted on last Tuesday of having poisoned his young wife, Helen Nelson Potts, by giving her morphine. The court-room was well alled when Harris was brought down from the Tombs gesterday. In the crowd were a few women and one of them carried a buty in her arms. Harris was brought in shortly before 11 o'clock. His lawyers, in the organization or methods of the company are desirable. They looked more pale and concerned that there.

Your committee recommends, first, a division of the evidence showed that the dose was sulphate duties of executive officers, by the appointment of an auditor, who shall report direct to the trustees. Second—The adoption of a by law that no sularied employe of the company shall be eligible as a member of the board of trustees, other than the president and ruling out of evidence; and on the grounds the indistructive was not strend in the lighter. that the indictment was not signed by the District Third—We recommend that a committee of five be Attorney, but by a person who was not legally an oppointed by the board to make normalizations to fill Assistant District-Attorney, and that after the defence Assistant District-Attorney, and that after the defence and the re-

The Recorder denied the motions and asked what the defendant had to say why sentence should not be pronounced. Under advice of counsel he said nothing. Recorder smyth then said: "Harris, you were the in this court by a jury of musual Intelligence, men, I believe, of the strictest integrity, who heard the evidence in this case with groat patience and examined it with care, and arrived at the result that you are guilty of the crime of murder in the first deposition and retain the rested the prosecution introduced evidence as a suital. report.

Your committee recommend that, in view of the long and dryoted service rendered by Mr. William H. Beers to this company, this untiring energy and ability, shown in building up a company which is second to none, we feel that a proper recognition of such services and his tuture usefulness to the company warrant us in suggesting to this board that a salary of $25,000 per annum be given to him, to continue for life, in accordance with a contract already submitted to this committee,

W. L. TRONG. case. The evidence, to my mind, is clear and con-clusive. The crime that you are convicted of, and justly in my judgment, was one of a most stroctons character." The Recorder then told Harris that he had had a fuir trial and most able counsel, and complimented them, and particularly Mr. Jerome, on their work. He continued: "The law leaves no discretion with the Court in the judgment to be rendered. It is that your punishment will be the death penalty, to be inflicted upon you at a day hereafter to be decided upon, in the week beginning March 21, 1891. In the meantime you will ! Imprisoned in a place and manner as prescribed

Harris listened coolly and bowed when the Recorder had finished. He turn to the Court of Appends upon the Sheriff and District Attorney. This acts as a stay.

Mr. Taylor said that he was confident of se a new trial. He felt certain that the admission of the evidence of the physician who astended young Mrs Harris was good grounds for one. he would go to the United States supreme Court if necessary, he said he did not know, but that he did not consider it a lawyer's duty to do things which could not possibly benefit his client.

MR. POTTS'S ALLEGED WISH.

Philadelphia, Feb. 8.-A dispatch to "The Evening Telegraph says: "George Potts, the father of Helen Potts-Harris, for whose murder young Potts has recently convicted in New-York, is in West Chester, Pennsylvania, and talks freely upon the murder. His feelings toward Harris are bitter, and he is reported to have said: "I hope I may be allowed to touch the button of the electrical machine that hills the man-that murdered my doughter. I shall make applica-tion to the authorities for the privilege."

THE CHESS PLAY AGAIN EVEN

TEINITZ WIN- THE SIXTEENIH GAME AT HAVANA.

ANOTHER RUY LOPEZ OPENING EVENLY PLAYED,

BUT STEINITZ GAINS IN THE END GAME. Havana, Feb. 8 (special),-Steinitz opened the six teenth game of the chess match at the Centro Asturiano yesterday with the Ruy Lopez, which was defended by Tschizorin with 3 . . . P-Q R 3. The two players emerged evenly from the opening, but signifize obtained an advantage in the end game, and this secured him the victory after thirty-eight moves. The score is as follows:

Steinitz ... 0 D D 1 D 1 0 0 D 0 1 0 1 1 0 1-6 Tschigorio 1 D D 0 D 0 1 1 D 1 0 1 0 0 1 0-6 Drawn-4.

Mr. Steinitz sends the following narrative of the

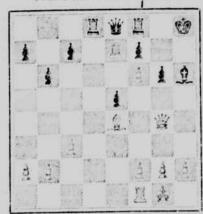

A Ruy Lopez, which Steinitz had not played since the fourth game, was at last made again the order of the day, and it went on in the same way up to Tschigorin's eighth and minth moves, which denoted a new defensive course. On Black's eleventh move Tschigorin's plan divalged itself more clearly when he opened an outlet for his Q B by P-Q Kt 3, after which he tried an attack on the adverse Q P, which, how ever, he could not sustain for more than two moves tion of a double Fianchetto was revenied. then assumed the attack on the K side, which at least must have forced exchanges that we have left black's Queen's side in a weak condition. T-chigorin deliberated long at the critical juncture which arose on the seventeenth move, and he decided to give up the K R P in a manner which involved an ingenious and deeply hidden trap. steinitz, however, avoided this by his reply, Q-R d, on the nineteenth move, which gave him a powerful at tack with one Pawn shead and another hanging fire. There were no minor pieces left, excepting Bishops of both colors, but the position of Black's King was greatly compromised. Another crisis arose on Black's twenty-second move, when Tschigorin allowed the advance of the hostile K B P with a check, which confined his King still more. He had done this in the hope of arriving at an ending after exchanging Queens, in which case the far advanced Pawn would have and Black could make a good fight, even if White won some other Pawns in the meanwhile. As a matter of course, Steinitz played for avoiding such a contingency and for holding the position tight until he could break through with a forcible attack against the exposed adverse King. His opportunity came on the twenty-eighth move, when he took the K Kt P with the Bishop.

At that Juncture he could have won in a neater man ner, as printed out by senor Golmayo. But his own attack was forefile enough, and the adverse King's side was at his mercy on the thirty-first move, when Tschigorin as a last resource tried with the incentity of despair," as Staunton would have called it, a sort of theatrical coup d etar. He captured the K B P with the Queen, checking, and if White in the excitement of

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

HE HAD BEEN THERE SEVERAL DAYS-RATS HIS ONLY COMPANIONS.

Dennis Buckley, who came to this country from Ireland about forty years ago, was one of those lonely, poverty-stricken, whiskey-sonked, friendless oid men of whom those around them know little and care less, He earned a living when he could by shovelling coal, He was about sixty-five years old, and was troubled with rheumatism and ague. When he had money he spent it in drink, and perhaps ate one scanty meal in two days. The den which he called his home was one of a number of apartments in the row of crazy wooden tenements known as "The Ship," and numbered 43, 45 and 47 Hamilton-st.

Buckley fived alone. He answered those who spoke to him with a curse, and the neighbors were glad to leave him alone. It was not until last night that they remembered that he had been seen by no one since he recled into his room on Saturday afternoon. James O'Beirne, who lived on the same floor, finally noticed a stekening smell that hung about Buckley's door. He called a policeman, who broke open the door. There, in the corner of the room, lay Buckley, cold and dead. A rough mattress thrown upon the floor had served for his last bed. He rested flat on his back, with the left knee slightly drawn up and 1 - hands folded peacefully across his breast. Across his body was flung a wormout feather bed, from which all the feathers had blown out on the floor. The rats have had been pretty busy with Buckley, having eaten away part of his body. It was not difficult to determine the cause of Buckley's death. He had broken down under a combination of old age, alt-oholism and want of the necessaries of life.
